MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director for Support

SUBJECT : Midcareer Executive Development Course

1. Someone recently asked me whether the criteria for participation in the six-week Midcareer Course had been changed. I think this question was prompted because of an understanding that there are an increasing number of participants who would not appear to be headed for executive positions at the GS-15 level or above, which I believe was one of the original criteria.

2. It might be interesting to take a look at the current and recent classes and see what they look like. I should think a brief tabulation by name, age, grade, and date of last promotion would give one a reasonable insight. We could then ask ourselves whether we really need to run this Course three times a year and whether the selection criteria should be adjusted in any way.

3. Would you please have a look at this and let me have a brief report sometime soon.
